December 7 Weekly Newsletter

SUBJECT: ⏰ [SUNDAY] Data Science Workshop Series Begins! 🎉
                    MetroHacks EmpowHer

☀ Updates for the Next Week

- 'What is Data Science?' with Er Li Peng on Sunday, December 13th at 2 PM EST!

  - Er Li Peng will be walking us through an introduction to Data Science!

    She is a senior consultant and data scientist at IBM, working primarily with federal government clients on analytics and data science projects.

- Web Development Class #5 on Saturday, December 12th at 2 PM EST

  - Apurva Ramavarapu will be teaching Intermediate

JavaScript.

She is a Computer Science graduate with a total of 6 years of experience and is currently working as a Software Development Engineer at Audible.

- Mentor-Matching!

  We highly encourage you to work closely with a mentor to have the most fulfilling EmpowHer experience!

  We have both technical and business focused mentors who can guide you to take your project to the next level.

Whether you have an idea or not, make sure to request a mentor!

"...our mentor was very informative on how each idea would be created, how difficult it would be, and how it would be marketed, etc. It was super wonderful and informative and my team was able to choose an idea!"

-An EmpowHer participant

If you have not yet formed a team, reach out to friends to join EmpowHer - Registration for the competition is open until January 1, 2021. Register here.

Make sure you have joined our Slack on desktop and mobile and that your @channel and @mention notifications are on!